Readme.txt

For milestone 3, I updated the website design from the previous milestone 2, using a UI sitemap and UI wireframes page designs. The CSS tags are supporting a variety of text fonts, colors, border, and page background colors. I also added some CSS tags to support a transition and animation on my contact page, which is a my new page, that I have added to the website. I called it contact.html, where I am displaying my contact information. The CSS tags are able to be reused across pages, and all code is formatted with adequate comments.
